

Y Ffordd Braf

Yr Hydref - 2017 - Autumn

The magazine for the churches and communities of the Epynt a'r Wysg Ministry Area in the Usk Valley

Editorial

As summer lurches all too soon into autumn, this issue of our magazine heralds the start of autumn activities and opportunities to celebrate harvest, and give thanks for the many blessings we enjoy in this country. The magazine has some inspiring news of what the young farmers have been doing, and the welcome our community has been giving to people who have suffered in ways we can barely imagine before they came here. But at the same time, it is sad to relate the precarious situation Y Ffordd Braf finds itself in, in terms of support through gaining advertisements, or through editorial help. Unless the situation changes drastically in the next three months, with offers of assistance in compiling the magazine, gaining advertisements and chasing revenue, the Christmas issue will be the last.

From the study window

It was good to see things coming to an end at a recent meeting rather like the summer holidays. I expect many parents feel the same way this year with the summer weather which we have been having, when it has often been the case - quick! Get the barbeque out! Only a few moments later to rush for cover as a shower empties itself on us. All things seem to come to an end. If we are not quick then opportunities for new experiences, fresh adventures may slip through our fingers. We might well come to regret those missed times but we can be determined to grasp them. We are meant to live life to the full and for many that will involve getting to know God better and getting to know our neighbours. Although we may live in idyllic surroundings that does not mean that we cannot play our part in trying to ensure that they can be experienced and enjoyed by all rather than a fortunate few. We should grasp the opportunities to do so and enrich our own lives.

Paul

News from the Pews

St Cynog, Defynnog

Summer has been a sad time as we said farewell to our well-loved bell ringer, Tom McCourt. At his funeral on June 15th, 1260 Grandsire Doubles were rung half-muffled and the tenor tolled to mark his life.

We look forward to welcoming at our last Compline roadshows on November 20th. Remember the church is open every day. Come rain or shine it is opened each morning to welcome visitors who come to see the famous ancient yew tree and to use this sacred space for prayer.

In October we will welcome the YFC Harvest Festival.

St David, Llywel

The summer months have passed quietly. We have continued to make use of Trecastle community centre for services during the church building works.

For those who have visited, you hopefully will have noticed that the top two levels of scaffolding have now been removed! In fact it is a positive step indeed as the work on the tower repointing is now completed and the new tower roof has been installed. The scaffolding remains so that the concrete louvres can be replaced. Obviously finding additional problems like this have increased the cost of the work being done but in order to keep within the budget we have, other less important ground level work will be omitted for the time being. Inside the church the work continues and the rewiring is nearly completed.

With work still on going, but wanting to focus on when all is completed, we have started to arrange our opening weekend for the 2nd and 3rd December. The planned activities so far are: a Christmas Tree festival, children's craft, children's crib service rounded off with a celebratory evening concert with a visiting choir and solo singers. Please keep a look out for further information as we finalise our plans. We look forward to be being able to once again fill our church with colour, conversation and laughter, friendship and the offer a warm welcome back, but more importantly the chance to bring our valued place of worship back to life within our community!

Capel Rhydybriw, Sennybridge

We have had a quiet summer but were delighted to host Compline in July. Remember our little church is "open all hours".

St Mary, Traeanglas

The farming community around Traeanglas have been very busy with the harvest. Walking around the lanes, we see that the hedgerows are showing signs of a good crop of elder and blackberries and other autumn fruits. In August we welcomed the Compline Roadshow. We look forward to welcoming you to the Bingo evening on Friday October 20th.

St Teilo, Llandeilo'r Fân

Sadly this has not been a happy summer for the congregation of St Teilo's church in Llandeilo'r Fan as we are missing one of our members Wyndham Jones, of Bwthyn Gwennol, who has died suddenly. We are also awaiting a structural survey report on the church roof timbers which are showing signs of age and strain, and which we fear will be rather expensive to repair.

Our good news is that our elderly member, Megan Davies, Rhiw Farm has settled into a new home where she is being lovingly cared for.

We also look forward to welcoming everyone to our Harvest service on Thursday 12th Oct at 7pm and on Sunday 29th October at 10am for a combined service, followed by refreshments and a Quiet Day.

St Ilid, Crai

We were delighted to welcome worshippers from all our churches for Compline on May 15th and look forward to welcoming them back on September 18th. Please join us!

Ss Cynidr and Mary, Aberyscir

We are looking forward to hosting a Concert with Local Soloists and Choirs and Community Singing of Favourite Hymns on Sunday 24th September at 6.00 pm Refreshments will be served and tickets will be available at the door (£7.50).

Bettws Penpont

On Sunday 16th July Penpont House combined forces with Abercamlais in an Open Gardens event which raised £1250 for Bettws Penpont; a much needed boost after our recent burglary. Saturday 9th September, the very popular choir 'Cantorion Cyfarthfa' will be giving an evening concert, along with accompanying soloists, at Bettws Penpont Church.

St Maelog, Llandefaelog

On the 8th July Tamsin Vyvyan-Robinson and Frederick Dewhurst were married in a delightful service taken by Fr Paul Wilding and Fr Michael Thomas. The church was full of family and friends, lots of flowers, and the Brecon Bell-ringers came out to ring.

We welcomed Florence Sophie Marcelle Guyon into the church on 23rd July in a lovely Baptism service taken by Rev John Lewis, retired Dean of Llandaff. Grandparents Mike and Margaret Jones filled the church with flowers for the occasion, which was attended by lots of family and friends.

We also have another wedding coming-up: Victoria Williams will be marrying Martin...on 9th September, so we look forward to another celebration in our church. Never have there been so many for years!

St Michael, Llanfihangel Nant Bran

'Community and Creation' were recently celebrated in our tiny village. Local church members, residents and organisations came together to create a stunning floral display in the church alongside an interesting art exhibition and delicious cakes on offer in the adjoining village hall. There was a friendly atmosphere throughout the event, which was clearly enjoyed by the large number of people who attended. The grand sum of £1100 raised towards church funds. We are very grateful to all the participants, including the Sennybridge Surgery, Brecon Rotary Club, Hay, Brecon and Talgarth Sanctuary for Refugees group and the Llanfihangel Nant Bran Art Group and to all those who supported us, either financially or by their presence.'

St Michael and All Angels, Lower Chapel

Our annual Strawberry Tea supported church funds and provided an opportunity to meet and chat. Volunteers put up the big Gazebo outside the Village Hall. We were overwhelmed by the generosity and wonderful support of our neighbours - churchgoers and non-church goers alike.

The Lower Chapel Show on August 12th gave us a great opportunity to come together to support our local community, as well as to fund raise. Thanks to everyone who supported it.

St Cynog, Capel Dyffryn Honddu Upper Chapel

As Dyffryn Honddu Church in Upper Chapel proceeds to its closure, the services are now held in the 3 remaining valley churches.

Refugee respite day at Aberhyddnant

On a sunny day in early July we were ready to welcome people we didn't know from places hundreds of miles away to our farm. Bunting was up, there was a tremendous amount of food, crafts and Jacob sheep at the ready. Anticipation was high when the call came to say the bus had left Swansea.

The bus parked at Bedlwyncoch, with big thanks to Dyfrig and Gaynor, and was met by a stream of cars to transport the less able and little children. Also there, with a warm welcome, were Marion and Christopher. They guided our guests to the farm chatting and breaking down some barriers. We also had guests who had travelled from Newport and Cardiff.

Our guests were given lunch (a never ending supply of food) and the opportunity to unwind in the countryside. Many come from rural locations in their own countries and are now stuck in city situations.

They loved the animals even overcoming their fear of dogs, thanks to Gwen the fluffy sheepdog who just let children climb all over her. Tanwen came along with clay and helped both children adults create some very artistic pieces. Allyson and Susan from craft club helped children to make puppies out of flannels, useful and fun, there was a musician from Hay and the boys, young and old really enjoyed a competitive game of football.

I found it amazing that these people who had left their homes with just what they could carry were so resilient. Two old friends met for the first time since parting company in a camp many thousands of miles away. A very happy reunion.

A mother of small children who lives in one room in a basement in Swansea, which can get hot and claustrophobic but she has to keep her window closed because drunks climb in.

I asked Marion, who spent the day listening to and telling stories, what were her best stories of the day:-

'One story is about storytelling. There was a 5 year old Chinese boy who spent most of the afternoon with me, telling stories to me. Stories that I could barely understand because his English is at a very early stage of development. Stories that I encouraged him to tell and others to listen to. His mum told me later that he said to her about me, "I love granny. I don't need you to stay, mum. I'll stay with granny."

The other story is about food. I was talking to three young women, all of them studying, one to be a hairdresser, one a beautician, the third an architect. I mentioned that I had cooked something and they asked what it was. As I described it, one of them was scrolling through the photos on her phone. She found the one she wanted, which was of the table that was groaning with the food that so many people had provided. She searched the photo and enlarged one bowl of food and sure enough, it was the lentil and rice dish that I had made.

She took my hand in her two hands and thanked me enthusiastically, saying "I tried everything. But for me, the food you made was the most delicious, because it's like the food that my mum makes. It reminds me of food from home. Thank you."

For me, these two very touching interactions - and so many others that there isn't time or space for! - completely validate my contribution to the day. As I see it, the day wasn't only about giving to our guests, it was also about receiving.'

What an amazing day we had with some fantastic people. The weather was kind to us and we hosted approximately 100 asylum seekers and refugees, it is difficult to image the risks they took to get to the UK or the reasons that forced them to do this. Many families are now living in one room, asylum seekers are not permitted to work and receive £5/day to cover all their costs, whilst many refugees are working in the lowest paid jobs no one else would touch with a barge pole. It was great to see so many happy smiling faces.

We would like to thank everyone who helped on the day, Jennie and Peter for their sterling work in the kitchen and Crai Hall Management Committee for their generosity in supplying all the cutlery and crockery, tables and chairs for the day. There are far too many to mention, but everyone played a very important role in this very special day. THANK YOU from all at Aberhyddnant

Sennybridge Rainbows, Brownies & Guides

I think Nicola and I are probably mad, but after a full term of activities we invited the girls up to the farm to enjoy three activity days. We created some amazing peacocks, solved some serious crimes and finally celebrated Christmas in summer. About ten girls came to each day and had lots of fun as we dodged the rain and enjoyed the sunshine.

We start back on 19th September, the same times as previously, but in a new venue, Maescar Village Hall. We will be able to arrange pick up from Happy Days afterschool club as before. Please contact Liz 636797 for further details.
